SUMMARY

I am a Computer Science student at SZABIST Islamabad with experience in cybersecurity, penetration testing, and full-stack web development. I am currently working as a Security Analyst at Secure Purple, where I help protect computer systems by finding and fixing security problems. I also have practical experience in building websites using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React.js, Node.js, MongoDB, and MySQL. I have completed internships and certified training programs to improve my skills. I enjoy learning new things, solving technical problems, and working on real-world projects in technology.
